Dedication

As we, the Seniors, are leaving Allendale, some of us to enter college, the rest to go out into the World and take up the various tasks ahead of us, we would like to pay a final tribute to a man who has helped to shape all of our destinies — Mr. Milella. Throughout our years at Allendale he has guided us and lent us freely of his time and friendly advice in every form of school endeavor. We can still remember the time when he taught us geography and coached us on the third squad gridiron. Under his talented and very capable direction the School's dramatic efforts have all been unusually successful. Especially will he remain in our memories for his unfailing sense of humor and cheerful smile which have done so much to brighten our days at Allendale.

THE FACULTY

Coming to Allendale in 1948 after graduating from Princeton in 1936, and serving as assistant headmaster at the Hun School in Princeton, N. J., Mr. Schwartz has won the friendship and loyalty of everyone he meets. Parents, faculty, and students alike have seen him build the school into the ever-strengthening organization that it is today. Mr. Schwartz enjoys pipe smoking and hunting in his odd moments, but farm chores take up his early morning hours.

The year 1941 saw Mr. Smith come to Allendale from St. Peter's School in Peekskill, New York. He is a graduate of Hamilton College, where he received his B.A. Finding time from his strenuous duties as assistant headmaster, he coaches varsity baseball and skiing in the wintertime. Particularly is he noted though, for teaching the entertaining subject of Latin. Mr. Smith is an enthusiast of most outdoor sports and also a gardener of note.

Robin

Although usually quiet and unperturbed, Robin occasionally lets loose and whether it be on the athletic field or in the classroom, he is a human dynamo in action. No one can surpass him when it comes to hard work and when he sets out to do a task, it is as good as done before he starts. The role of librarian took up his time left over from studies and athletics and a reorganized and efficient library was the result of his efforts. Robin may be seen on the campus of the University of Rochester next year where he is going to concentrate on English.

Shanty

Although having been at Allendale for only one year, Ed has adapted himself wonderfully to his new environment and lent his assistance in many ways. His jovial easy-going manner belies his driving will to win on the athletic field. Very often Ed was to be found the center of attraction at a senior bull session, but his determination to achieve his goals in life which he has already shown at Allendale should hold him in good stead at college and after. The University of Rochester will be Ed's first stop for a year, then on to Annapolis where he hopes to become an officer in the United States Navy.

Dick

Without Dave, Allendale would be a pretty empty place. His booming voice is well known around the school and he is a familiar figure at social gatherings of all kinds. Varsity football and baseball are included among his athletic accomplishments and most school dances were under his capable direction. As this yearbook goes to press, Dave's plans for college are indefinite but his interest in engineering may lead him to a career along this line.

Jack

Jack is one of the few of us who has been at Allendale for as long as nine years. During that time he has developed into not only a good student, but a tower of strength on the athletic field. Ever since pitching in ten of eleven games in his sophomore year, Jack has been one of the mainstays of the baseball team. We must not forget Jack's other achievements, however. By means of constant effort and perseverance, he has pulled himself from a mediocre student to a good one. Cornell's Hotel school will receive his efforts for the next four years and surveying the situation, we do not think he could have made a wiser choice.

Distinguishing himself in every phase of school activity, Jim has demonstrated himself as a true leader. While keeping a high honor average, he was very prominent in athletics and the publications. As captain of the basketball team he led the Blue and White to an outstanding victory over Harley. As editor of the Clavus he has marshalled the whole class into contributing to this publication. His affability has made him a popular figure around school, and he was elected to the Student Council for three years. Jim's plans for next year include the study of Chemistry at Princeton University.

Joe

If ever there was a bundle of energy, it is certainly Joe Green. The fact is that even Joe himself sometimes doesn't know where it all comes from. If he doesn't succeed at something the first time, he keeps plugging away until he has mastered it. He is forever attempting to do everything at one time which is a difficult task for any man. His bedraggled jacket and jaunty yachting cap are well known around school and he is every ready to lend a helping hand. Joe hopes to study for the ministry after completing his final year at Allendale.

Come

Come has shown Allendale how a boy can make a successful transition from a public to a private school way of life. Coming from Brighton early in high school, he has made remarkable strides in all phases of school activities. Although not greatly distinguishing himself in any one field, he has done a great deal to contribute to the welfare of the school and of his classmates. As the yearbook goes to press, Come's plans are indefinite, but we are looking for him to make a constant and continued effort to reach his goal in life.

George

One might say that George is a born leader. He certainly has proven this at Allendale where he captained two athletic teams, was president of the Student Council and Dramatic Society, and was co-editor of the Crows Nest to mention a few. His winning personality has already made him many friends and his shrewd business sense should be invaluable to him later on. Honor marks and an active social schedule also dot his record and Pennsylvania University should find him a most welcome addition.

Looking out over the green lawn on a warm October afternoon, one is very apt to see Jim Kerr carrying the pigskin for a long gain against some Allendale opponent. One is just as apt to see him in May power a homerun to center-field. Athletics are Jim's strong point, but he has come along very well scholastically and has done well in many extra-curricular activities. Having joined the Naval Reserve in his senior year, Jim will probably be spending a portion of the next few years on one of Uncle Sam's warships.

Colie was another transfer from a public school who has so ably fitted himself into Allendale. Studies, athletics, and other extra-curricular activities all go to make up his diversified program. Keeping his marks at a high level, he has given freely of his time to school publications, all sports, and dramatics. Trinity is Colie's choice of college and by being the only member of the senior class to take advantage of the accelerated summer sessions being offered by many colleges, he will probably graduate a year ahead of his Allendale classmates.

When a person thinks to himself, "now who can I get to help me with this job?", the name of Pete Marsland automatically comes to mind. Although working hard in all extra-curricular activities, as well as his studies, Pete contributed a good deal of his time to the school. In sports he also proved to be proficient, winning letters in football and JV basketball, and becoming a track star in the mile run. Earlham College in Indiana will be Pete's base to operations for the next four years.

John

Meet this boy, and you are sure to like him. That is the way it has been at Allendale as John makes friends wherever he goes. In school activities he works at or plays almost everything to come his way and does so with a cheerful willingness that is an example to everyone. His unusual artistic ability is demonstrated in the school paper and yearbook and at several dances his drawings of the teachers have been a tremendous success. John's plans for the future include the University of Rochester and we wish him the best of luck whatever he does.

Perhaps Bill might be called a trifle too soft hearted. Many times he has been known to set aside his own tasks to help a friend in need. Not at all a brute in size, he makes up for this with courage and determination. Particularly will he be remembered for his vicious tackling on the football field, but his cheerful attitude toward thankless jobs on the publications should not go by unnoticed. Hamilton is Bill's choice of college next year and we are expecting a job well done.

Returning to Allendale after two years at boarding school, Gordie has quickly fitted into the school's way of life. His journalistic abilities made him prominent on the Clavus and Crows Nest as did his dramatic abilities on the stage. But most of all he will be remembered for his clever and spontaneous wit. When he became serious though he was a worker of the highest caliber and an inspiration to his classmates. Maturing in English at Haverford College will be Gordie's main objective for the next few years.

Al is enthusiastic over everything, whether he is familiar with it or not and many a party owes its life and sparkle to none other than Alfred. If you have a question to ask concerning any type of gun, Don is the man to ask, for he has a collection of firearms that would do justice to the state militia. A trick knee has kept him out of other phases of athletics, but he has worked diligently on his marks and lent himself to such activities as dramatics where he has done a great deal to make many productions successes as the stage manager. Next fall will find Don matriculating at the University of Maine where he will major in forestry.

H. FORSYTH WINCHELL

For

During his four years at Allendale, For has compiled one of the most outstanding scholastic records that the school has ever seen. His abilities along this line plus his willingness to help have made him almost a tutor at times and even Mr. Mulford must give this surprising boy a vote of thanks for assistance in the mathematics department. Outside of his studies, For's love for a great many sports has taken up much of his time and given the school a very able tackle on the football team. Next year For is entering Harvard to take up a pre-medical field in which we are sure he is bound to succeed.

The Will of the Class of 1951

CLASS OF 1952

To an unusually small group of boys will fall the immense responsibility of taking over the top notch of the school curriculum. These boys form a rather loosely knit organization which can pull together at the slightest provocation, as they proved in their excellent presentation of the Junior Dance, the first of such in a good many years. Certain members of this class have already proven themselves able leaders, and the class as a whole should be able to carry out their duties, both scholastic and athletic next year.

CLASS OF 1953

The sophomore class this year probably has been one of the most active groups of boys the school has ever seen. Most of them are now beginning to find that there is a time and place for everything, although on occasion it would be hard to convince their teachers of this fact. They have participated in every phase of school life including the successful play, "The Hasty Heart." Their extra-curricular activities have received more publicity than any other class and the sophomore fleet of automobiles is something to behold. They are being heavily counted on for the next two years and we are sure that they will do the job well.

 Missing: Taylor

CLASS OF 1954

This year's freshman class is big, not only in size, but in spirit as well. It contains its share of scholars, athletes, and comedians which all go to make up a boisterous, but dependable group of boys. This class has been called everything from industrious to uncontrollable, but we believe that industrious is a better description. Though five subjects make up their curriculum, they find time to really have fun and are a class to be counted on in the future.

Left to right, front row: Cherne, Phillips, Schumacher, J., Faragher, DeLaCour
Missing: Fitch, Lama

8th GRADE

Take water pistols, cap guns, bubble gum, football, dancing class, and even a bit of serious study and put them all together, the result is this class. The school would seem very quiet but a little dull without their constant chattering. Freshman year is almost upon them, and with it comes more serious work, but without a doubt they will take even a jump such as this in their stride, and go on to compile a fine record for themselves.

7th GRADE

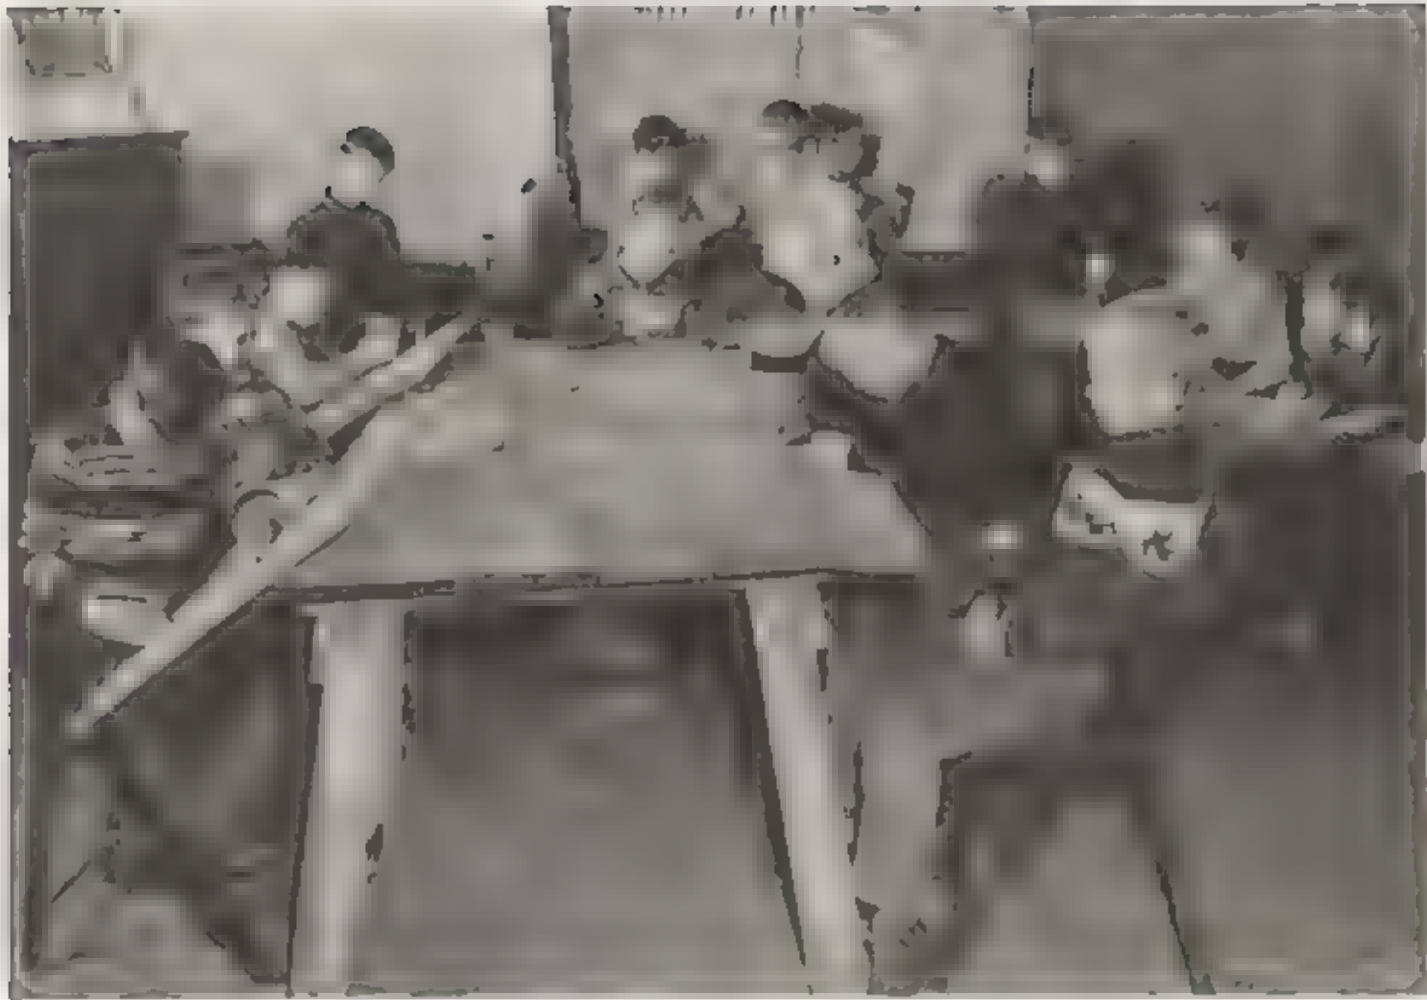

Here is one of the smallest classes in the school and certainly one of the happiest. Without a care in the world they go on their merry way, whether it be a titanic struggle on the athletic field, a puzzling problem on their home work, or drawing their teacher's stern visage on the blackboard. They are well known about the school as their mischievous pranks are irksome at times, but always manage to bring a smile to their victims. Success is theirs for the taking and they are not ones to waste an opportunity.

6th GRADE

The sixth grade is a class composed of boys with widely varying talents. Their ranks are studded with exceptional scholars, athletes, and those gifted in almost any other field imaginable. They are equal to every occasion and then some. Perhaps the very variety of its members helps to make this class a compact and well coordinated group, but, at any rate, the very best of luck must go to a really fine bunch.

GRADES 3 through 5

Although almost the smallest in the school in size, these lower grades are by no means the least important, for they are the backbone of the future Alondale. Already the excellent teaching they receive is taking effect and their hidden talents and interests are blossoming forth. Soon they will begin to encounter more serious problems, but for the time being we would like them to stay just the way they are.

Standing: Milella, Zahndt, Hawks, Hickok.
Sitting: Davie, Gorman, Atkins, D. Schwartz, Allen.
Kneeling: Morris, Watson, W. Smith, Gardner.
Missing: Mills, Knight, Pevear.

GRADES 1 and 2

To watch these children in action is indeed a real pleasure, for under the kindly supervision of Mrs. Broadbrooks they acquire polished manners, proficiency at 'reading,' 'writing' and 'arithmetic' and give time out to have some real fun. Their holiday parties with real home cooking have been rare treats for the upper school, and we know that Mrs. Broadbrooks will continue to turn out outstanding groups such as this one.

PUBLICATIONS

This year, under the direction of co-editors George Kavanagh and Gordon Shedd, the Allendale newspaper, the Crow's Nest faithfully reported the latest happenings in and about the school to the students, parents, and alumni. We feel that the paper has fulfilled its job not only of reporting news, but stimulating interest in the school, and we hope that next year it meets with continued success.

Once again using letter press printing for this book, we sincerely hope that we have shed some light on an interesting school year. The Clavus is always an important part of that school year, summing up as it does, the activities of the two terms, and we would be very happy if our edition could compare favorably with those preceeding it.

The newly formed dramatic society, with George Kavanagh as President, presented John Patrick's play, "The Hasty Heart" as its first production. Borrowing Sue Kendall from Brighton to play the female lead, this first venture proved to be quite a success.

The "Blackfriars" as the society is called, is under the very excellent direction of Mr. Milella, Mr. Folsom, and Mr. LeFevre. It was felt that Allendale has long needed an organization of this kind to further interest in dramatics, and this year these hopes were finally realized. As the idea now begins to take root, we are sure that many more plays equal to "The Hasty Heart" will be produced in the future.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council, this year, is much the same as last year's. It is composed of five members, three seniors and two juniors. As a change from previous years, however, the two junior members may only hold office during their senior year by reelection. All changes were made at mid-year when a student committee revised the Council Charter so as to better handle the problems of the school. In conjunction with Mr. Schwartz, the council helped in school supervision, organizing social functions and generally acted wherever possible.

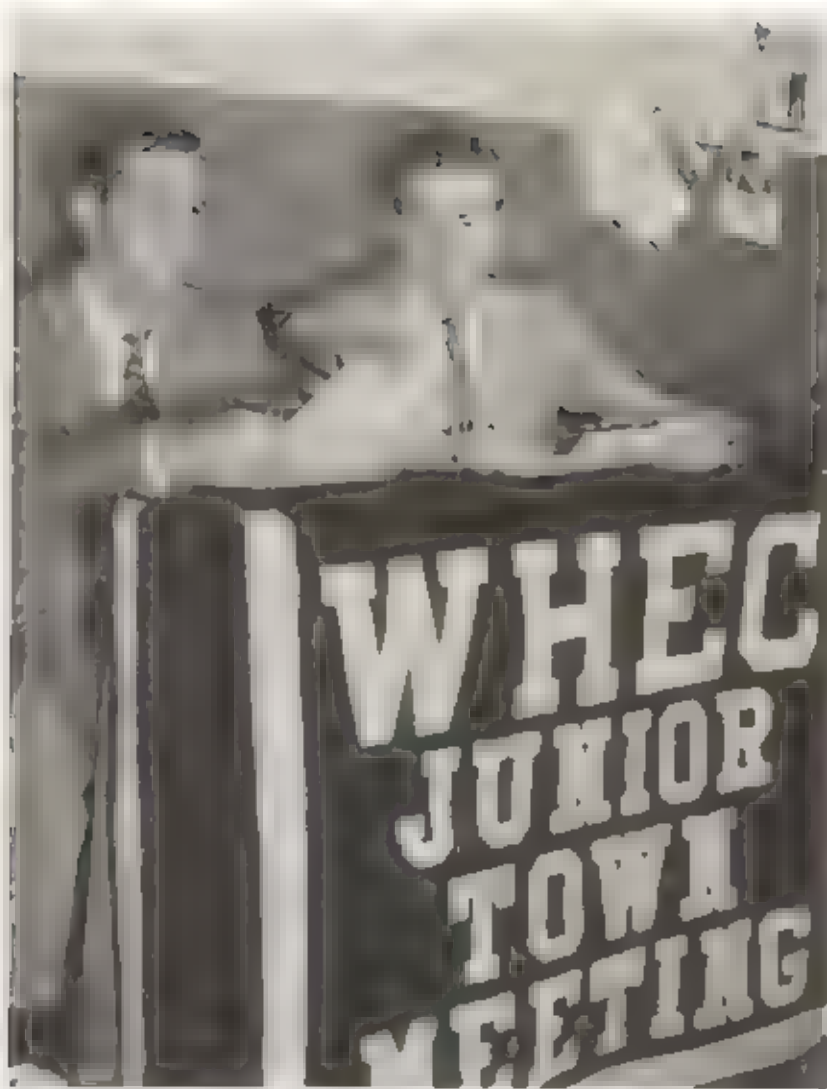

We believe that this compact and flexible organization has done its job well and will continue to do so in the future.

GLEE CLUB

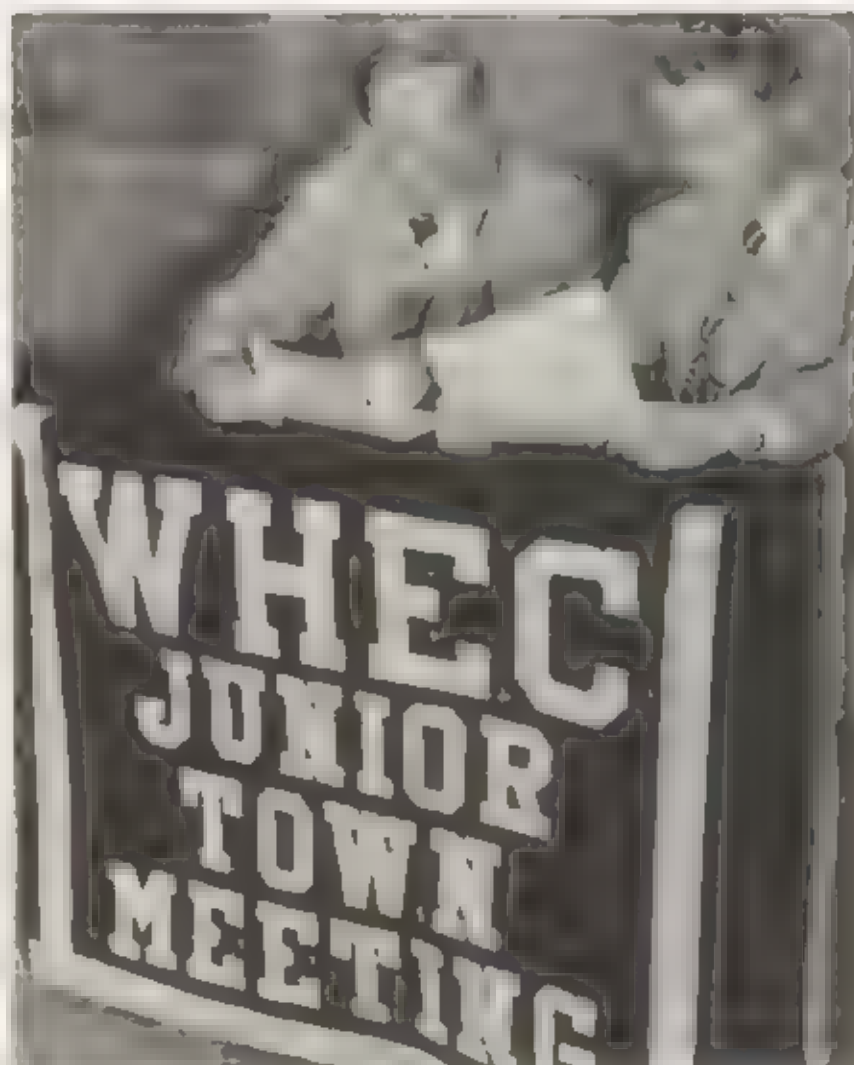

This year, because of the increasing interest in a musical organization of some sort, a Glee Club was instituted at Alameda. Made up of boys from the upper school who just plain like to sing, and under the most excellent direction of Mr. Theodore Hollenbach, the group began practice early in the school year so that their golden voices were able to be heard at the Christmas Breakfast and other important occasions. Next year with a wealth of experienced talent, Mr. Hollenbach should produce another really fine group.

JUNIOR TOWN MEETING

The Junior Town Meeting of the Air, presented by station WHEC, is a weekly program in which high school students debate on various problems. The Kiski, or one-subject-at-a-time plan of education was the topic aired from Allendale as Tom Mees and Dave Dickason were in favor of it, while George Kavanagh and For Winchell opposed it. Following the arguments by each of the contestants, members of the student body presented the group with questions on the subject. The program, recorded in the study hall, was heard the following Sunday afternoon.

VARSITY FOOTBALL TEAM

The 1950 varsity football squad, although showing occasional flashes of brilliance, turned in a disappointing record of two wins and five losses. The season opened on a happy note, as the team soundly defeated the Brighton "B" squad, 51-0. The next, and last victory came two weeks later when the Blue and White downed Fairport "B", 24-6 on the Fairport gridiron. The highlight of the season was the game at Geneseo, played under lights and in a driving rain. Coach Bob Hoe had his team in the peak of condition as they turned in their most outstanding performance.

Next year's squad will be heavily hit by graduation, losing Ed Conley, John Ratchliffe, Jim Kerr, Jack Ernest, Captain George Kavanagh, Touchdown Club award winner, Bill Robinson, For Winchell, Robin Barrett, and Pete Marsland. Many promising replacements, however, should form a winning team next year.

VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM

The 1950-1951 Basketball season was made an automatic success in spite of a 7 won, 8 loss, record when the varsity downed Harley 53-51 in overtime on the last day of the season. The team showed potential power earlier in the season, but could not seem to put together a winning combination as they finished fourth in CCPS League competition. The mid season departure of Coach Carl Andrews was a jolt to the team, but under the capable direction of Tony Partigan, they finished the campaign with a respectable record. Theoretically, next year's team should be one of the strongest in the history of the School as only Captain elect Jim Gleason, Ed Conley, and John Ratcliffe are lost through graduation.

JV BASKETBALL TEAM

Here is a group of boys who deserve much more credit than they get. Playing their game before the varsity they sometimes go almost unnoticed, but even so they are trying all the time. This year saw Allendale's JV team go undefeated in CUPS League competition and compile a good, solid, overall record. Coach David DuPre's smooth working combination included Robin Barrett, Gordon Shedd, Tom Mees, John Logan, and Bill Hamilton, with Pete Baltzer, Carl Fennyvessy, Joe Green, John Street, Bill Marshuetz, Dave Dunn, and John Gipner in the important reserve role.

SKI SQUAD

This year as in many recent years, the ski squad has done almost everything but ski. Very seldom were the weather conditions such as to permit a good day's outing on the slopes. Under the guidance of Mr. J. L. G. Smith, the squad made use of their non-skiing time by invading the gymnasium or playing touch football.

Left to right, front row: Ratchile, Killip, Barrett, Dickason, Ernest, Conley, Kerr, Gleason.

VARSITY BASEBALL TEAM

As this yearbook goes to press the baseball season is not yet completed. It appears, however, that the team will compile one of the School's most outstanding records. The list now shows seven wins against two defeats, including four wins and one loss in CUPS League competition. If the squad continues to play as it has the prospects of gaining our first CUPS League championship are excellent.

Eight seniors will be lost from next year's squad as graduation takes out fielders Jim Kerr, Robin Barrett, and Cole Killip, infielder John Ratchile, pitcher-infielder Dave Dickason, pitchers Jim Gleason and Captain Jack Ernest, and catcher Ed Conley. Coach Gorham Smith is expecting a successful season again next year as several key players will be returning and reserves coming up.

TRACK TEAM

In its second year at Allendale, track is well on its way in becoming a major sport here. The boys are taking a real interest and the squad has increased enormously over last year in both size and ability. Three meets were held this year, at Brighton, at Furport, and the annual CCPS League meet at Allendale. The CCPS League meet saw the Blue and White narrowly edged out by Park in a thrilling finish, but the performance of the boys was a magnificent one and was full of promise for next year's squad.

MOHAWK AND APACHE CLUBS

Under the leadership of George Kavanagh, the Apaches this year defeated George Nichols' Mohawks in a battle down to the final gun. The teams, each made up of fifty percent of the school, staged the most dramatic climax in the history of the annual competition. The Apaches easily won the football series, but lost in basketball to their aroused opponents. With everything riding on the baseball games, the teams played to a scoreless deadlock in the varsity contest, but by virtue of the second squad game the Apaches were champions.
